Antiques Show To Benefit Historic Oaklands Mansion

The antiques collector knows that the pursuit of old furniture, silver, books or paintings is a fascinating chase that provides the hunter with many thrills. Whether he gets his first moment of exultation at a small wayside shop, country auction or flea market. Imagine, then, the excitement of "the hunt" in Murfreesboro this month when 45 dealers in antiques from 13 states assemble their tantalizing wares, all under one roof, for a mammoth three day exhibition and everything will be for sale!

The show will be staged at Hobgood School, on Mercury Blvd. between U.S. Highways 70-S and 41, from Wednesday through Friday, June 18 - 20, and open to the public each day from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Hot and cold foods will be available in the school cafeteria during the luncheon and dinner hours and packaged items, such as pies, cakes, cookies, breads, may be purchased in the Country Kitchen.

Oaklands Association Inc., an organization of more than 300 persons dedicated to the restoration of Oaklands mansion, historic site, sponsors the show. Admission at the door is $1. Oaklands dates to 1786 when Ezekiel White, a private in the North Carolina Continental Line, was granted 274 acres of land on the waters of Stone's River in recognition of his Revolutionary War Service. White sold the land to his former commanding officer, Col. Hardy Murfree of Hertford County, N.C., for whom Murfreesboro was named and whose daughter, Sally Hardy Murfree, inherited the property. She married Dr. James Maney, also of Hertford County, N.C. and the house and land remained in the Maney family for 86 years, lasting through decades of pros-

Lost Boy Is Found Cowering Under Bridge

MAYFIELD, Ky., David Helm, 8, missing from the Paradise Friendly Home and Orphanage near Bell City, since 3 p.m. Friday, was found about 10 a.m. today.

M. C. Dick and Gerald Schultz, members of the Graves County Rescue Squad, found the boy crouched under a bridge about eight miles from the home, unclothed but unharmed.

The two men were searching, along with other members of the rescue squad, when they heard Helm yell from under the bridge, for someone to get him out of there.

Mrs. I. W. Murdock, who operates the home with her husband, said the boy was just cold and hungry after his ordeal.

Helm and four others went wading in a creek near the home, Friday afternoon, when a thunderstorm came up. The boys ran for cover and, according to Murdock, the boy panicked and ran.

Turner's Pure Milk Company is a leader in the field of manufacturing dairy products in this area. Above W. P. "Dub" Burnette is shown in front of the new and modern plant operated by the firm here. The photo of "Dub," may not be the latest one, but you can bet that the plant is always up-to-date when it comes to manufacturing dairy products and keeping abreast of new practices in the industry.

Modern Industry Acts To Make Milk "Best Buy"

The dairy industry in the United States today is one of the most modern of industries. Many recent developments in equipment and sanitary procedures help make milk one of the safest, high-quality foods. Among "best buys" both nutritionally and on a low cost-per-pound basis are Grade "A" pasteurized milk and milk products.

Even if milk costs 30 cents a quart, this means the cost of milk by the pound is only about 15 cents. For a 12-to-15-year old boy, a quart of milk provides about 48% of his daily recommended intake of protein—and milk protein is of the highest quality; 82% of his calcium; 28% of his vitamin A; 100% of his vitamin D—if the milk is fortified; 93% of his riboflavin; 27% of his thiamine; 21% of his calories; plus other nutrients in lesser quantities.

amine; 21% of his calories; plus other nutrients in lesser quantities.

All this for the price of one quart of milk. For its nutrients alone, milk is a tremendous bargain, but it also tastes good and is almost universally enjoyed by all ages. Milk is nature's own convenience food product; it's easy to serve "as is" or as a great ingredient in other foods.

The American people drink more milk than any other beverage except water. Last year each American, on the average, consumed daily the equivalent of almost 1.6 pounds of milk—as milk, butter, cheese, ice cream, and other dairy products. (A quart of milk weighs 2.15 pounds.)

A pleasant task for a pleasant guy. David Phelps, who handles advertising and other official duties for Turner's Pure Milk Company is shown at a recent Banana Festival serving a delicious portion of the World's Largest Banana Pudding to the Kentucky Dairy Princess.

Now Hear This!

That consumers in the United States spend about $13 billion for milk and milk products each year?

That a cow was the first animal to take an airplane ride on February 18, 1930?

That cows who kept a cool head gave more milk than their hotheaded sisters, according to a USDA test?

Ellington Asks Federal Money For Tombigbee

WASHINGTON — Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington asked the House Public Works subcommittee today to approve President Nixon's request for funds to allow the continuation of advanced engineering and design for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway in fiscal 1970.

"For the second consecutive year, presidents of the United States have requested an allocation of $500,000 to permit construction planning for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, a modern navigation channel that will shorten the river distance between the Gulf of Mexico and industrial centers in the Tennessee Valley by up to 700 miles," Ellington said.

"Last year the Congress, despite fiscal restrictions, provided $485,000 of the requested amount," Ellington said in his prepared statement, "and this money has allowed much progress in the planning effort. Your consideration and approval of $500,000 presidential request is earnestly solicited."

Ellington said Tennessee has been an active promoter of the waterway since 1958 and that the state will benefit greatly from the project.

"Because of my long and close association with this project, I feel that I realize the great advantages that the Tennessee-Tombigbee will afford to the industrial complexes and agricultural areas along the Tennessee and Cumberland Rivers in my state," he said.

"The industrial position of these regions will be further increased by the addition of the Tennessee-Tombigbee route

Takes Less Time

Agricultural experts at Cornell University have estimated that in 1945, on the average, it took 120 hours a year to take care of a cow.

Recently a survey showed that this figure in conventional stanchion barns has been cut to 80 hours per cow per year, but in the free stall barns (with milking parlors and high levels of silage feeding) the average of a sizable number was 43 hours per cow per year.

One farmer reported a low of 28 hours per cow per year!

Dairy Foods Help Homemaker Keep Her Cool

Make for Tasty, Nutritious Meals, More Time for Summer Fun

The living is easy in summertime for the smart homemaker who uses her refrigerator for "cooking."

The first order of business is stocking the refrigerator. The first stop: the grocer's dairy case — full of the dairy foods that are so tasty "as is" — and so compatible with other good things to eat.

Because they're always ready to serve, dairy foods cover a multitude of summertime eating situations deliciously, nutritiously — and with (happy thought) a minimum of effort from the cook.

For instance, when friends drop by unexpectedly, a selection of cheeses from the refrigerator, a few minutes in the kitchen and there's a snack tray. Hot, thirsty youngsters, ready for a "play break"? Mugs of cool milk all around!

For family dinners or patio entertaining, a help-yourself assortment of crisp vegetables or in-season fruits arranged around cottage cheese is easy on the chef and delightful for the diners.

For dressing green salads, try an easy "custom-made" dressing — sour cream, thinned with a bit of lemon juice and herbed to complement the menu.

Fresh as all outdoors, dairy foods add ease, convenience and flavor to summer meals. Their time-saving ways leave homemakers more time to enjoy the season's activities — and their appeal makes for good eating for the whole family.

When it comes to dessert, is there a quicker, surer-to-please choice for any occasion than ice cream? Or a more effortless way to add flavor to all kinds of foods than butter?

No doubt about it, dairy foods help keep families well-fed — and give homemakers more time to enjoy "the good old summertime."

Here are more ideas to keep tucked under your sunbonnet for a summer full of easy, excellent eating:

• TINY CUBES OF CHEESE, such as Swiss, Gouda, Cheddar, Brick or Blue added to a tossed green salad make a flavorful surprise note for an ordinary everyday food.

• FRESHLY SHREDDED CHEDDAR cheese is a wonderful topping for fruit salad... sprinkle it over cooked green vegetables... or use it to top hamburgers prepared on your outdoor grill.

• ICE CREAM IS EASIER to scoop or slice if moved from freezer to refrigerator to soften. Allow about 20 minutes for a half-gallon, 10 minutes for a pint for softening; half this for slicing. When using a half-gallon, spoon ice cream from center to side of carton. To measure ice cream packed in half-gallons for recipes, remember: a half-gallon cut in half makes 2 quarts; a half-gallon cut in fourths makes 4 pints.

• BUTTER GIVES FLAVOR and moistness to a sandwich, and helps keep the filling from soaking into the bread. That's especially important to remember, Mom, when you're all headed for a picnic.

• WHAT'S BETTER than a broiled steak? A buttery broiled steak! Real whipped butter makes it taste better! Especially if you add a seasoning to the butter... like chopped chives... or crumbled Blue cheese... or garlic salt... or even chili powder! But be sure to make it up ahead of time to give the flavors a chance to blend.

• HERE'S A SIMPLE WAY to make deviled eggs. Add ¼ cup crumbled Blue cheese, ¼ cup dairy sour cream and ½ teaspoon vinegar to the yolks of six hard-cooked eggs.

• PROPER SELECTION OF FOOD is of prime importance for a clear complexion, shining hair and healthy teeth. And for the teenage girl who's counting calories, as so many wisely are these days, milk is a bargain in terms of calories, because they're not empty calories. An 8-ounce glass of homogenized milk which contains 147 calories also provides important amounts of protein, calcium, riboflavin and vitamin A.

• FOR A LEMON COOLER that will be refreshing to the most sophisticated taste, try this idea. In a large mixing bowl while beating 1 pint softened lemon sherbet and 2 tablespoons finely grated lemon rind, gradually add 3 cups of milk and 1-2 drops yellow food coloring. Yields: 4½ cups. Garnish with fresh strawberries, or lemon slices if desired.

• HERE IS A BRAND NEW ACCENT for a favorite salad recipe that combines peaches and cottage cheese — Spiced Cottage Fruit Salad. Place a peach half, cut side up, on lettuce leaves; place ¼ cup cottage cheese in center. Sprinkle with cinnamon and garnish with lemon wedge. Squeeze the lemon over the salad to give it a fresh, tangy flavor.

Highway Changes Announced

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss has announced seven personnel changes in the Highway Department. The changes, announced Thursday, include:

—Raymond Pile, an employee for 36 years, was named maintenance director.

—V. Edward Holloway, formerly an assistant professor and coach at Kentucky Southern College in Louisville, was named real property director.

—Jesse D. Chisholm, another long-term employee, has been named assistant rural roads director.

—Ramsey Brock, formerly a self-employed safety engineer in the Harlan coal business, is new service and supply director.

—B. R. Flener, who started as a scholarship student with the Highway Department, has been appointed traffic director.

—Ralph R. Waddle is new construction director. He has been with the agency for almost 20 years.

—Mrs. Nancy Phares, purchases director, is the only woman director of a division in the department. She previously was service and supply director.

percent less total digestive nutrients.

When grazing sudan we have already stated that the plants should reach about 18 inches tall. The purpose in this is two fold. First the sudan plant is a very rapid grower, and the root system does not develop as fast as does the top portion of the plant, thus it is very easily pulled loose. Many stands have been thinned severely when turned on too early. Next, the prussic acid content seems to be somewhat higher when the plant is short.

I would like to give you the benefit of farmer experiences which have been met with much success.

Plant sudan on land that will produce a top yield of tobacco or 100 bushels of corn. The very best land is the place for your sudan pasture. 50 pounds of actual Nitrogen per acre will be needed for desired production in addition to necessary fertilizer for the 100 bushels of corn (potash and phosphorus).

Make sure you have a clean seed bed. No Weeds Please!

Always use CERTIFIED seed... remember the seed tag.

Set the wheat drill for 2 pecks for a rate of 20 to 25 pounds. I would suggest just a little tag or two passed the 2 peck mark for good measure, you know your drill better than I, so this will not be difficult.

Sudan will give you top yields and production if you will just follow a few of the management practices that have been proven successful.

I have one more suggestion to make if you are a dairyman and have a really good crop of sudan to use as pasture... be sure to order some extra cans when you turn into the sudan field this summer!

Writer For Reader's Digest Pays Visit To His Hometown

One of Greenfield's "hometown boys who made good" came back to his native city this week when Blake Clark, roving editor for Reader's Digest and internationally known writer, paid a visit.

Mr. Clark, who has had books on best selling lists and has amassed a personal fortune along with personal fame, came to visit old friends and relive memories of his boyhood. He noted that though "I have traveled over the world many times, Greenfield is still home."

Mr. Clark was here between assignments and will be leaving for Europe in July to do a story.

Mr. Clark is the son of the late Thomas B. Clark and the late Ethel Harris Clark of Greenfield. His father ran a private school here and gained a reputation for turning out top students. Vanderbilt University didn't even require a graduate to take an entrance examination to enter the university.

The elder Mr. Clark later became principal of Greenfield High School and it was from here that Blake Clark graduated in 1925. He entered Vanderbilt University and earned his B. A. Degree and then his Master's Degree in English Literature in 1930.

After college, Mr. Clark went to Hawaii where he accepted a teaching post at the University of Hawaii. He was there on Pearl Harbor day and it was this occasion which gave way to a best selling book called "Remember Pearl Harbor." The book was a chronological account of the events of December 7, 1941.

The Reader's Digest picked up the story and asked Mr. Clark for more material. This was the beginning of the association of the two that has lasted until now.

Mr. Clark was drafted and served in Washington with the OSS, the forerunner of today's Central Intelligence Agency.

After the war, he returned to Digest work and has averaged about eight articles a year since that time. As a roving editor, he explained that "It is my job to find acceptable article ideas and, if the senior editors like them, I produce them."

In rating his articles, Mr. Clark stated no preference and said he was a non-specialist. He listed as some of his more popular articles, as selected by reader polls, as being "The Great Wall of China," an article on Ireland; one on Venice and a recent article entitled "America's Greatest Earthquake," dealing with the quake that formed Reelfoot Lake.

The reader poll rated this the third most read article in the April Digest issue and attests to the readability and popularity of Mr. Clark's style, considering the Digest publishes some 40 articles an issue.

In addition to his writing abilities, Mr. Clark has gained fame as being a good businessman. He was one of the first to take over a Volkswagen dealership in the United States when the car was first introduced. Only recently, he and his partner sold out their Washington, D. C., interests in the company for several million dollars.

Mr. Clark has not been the only one in his family to gain notice due to their talents. His wife, Deana, has become one of the best known personalities and has her own daily half-hour television program.

The program, called "Deana Clark's Moment With . . .", is a talk show where Mrs. Clark interviews cabinet members, members of Congress and other national figures.

She has had great success with her program and is a writer as well, having produced articles for National Geographic and other magazines with national circulation.

The Clarks have one daughter, Mrs. Bruce Leopold. She is with the Philadelphia Museum of Art after gaining degrees at Smith and Columbia, and a year of study in Florence, Italy.

New Vote At Hickman Plant Urged

CINCINNATI — The regional director of the National Labor Relations Board recommended today that another collective bargaining election be held at the Hickman, Ky., Garment Co. pending the outcome of unfair labor practice proceedings.

Director John Getreu said that the company did not file an election eligibility list with him but recommended the board defer action.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (AFL-CIO) received 77 votes in the election and 91 were cast against it. Sixteen votes were challenged.

The election was held on Sept. 27 and the union charged that on Sept. 20, the company granted certain benefits to employees regarding life insurance and basic medical programs. It also charged that Hickman officials held a "series of captive audience speeches" in which it threatened employees with less work and said it would not bargain if the petitioner were to win election.

The union said that the day before the election, the employer in collaboration with the Hickman Courier, distributed the Sept. 26 issue free to employees at the company gate and the paper contained a full-page advertisement implying loss of personal relationships and lower earnings if the union were voted in.

Getreu said that the objections could have affected outcome of the election but should be consolidated with the unfair labor practice proceedings.

He sustained the challenges of five ballots which would leave 11 challenged — insufficient to have bearing on the election.

Mayor Elected At Tiptonville

Dooly Michaelcheck, a former Tiptonville mayor, was elected to office for a second term.

He defeated Albert Markham 348 votes to 335. Mrs. Frank Andrews, registrar at large, said, "the vote stood at 322 each in the mayor's race until absentee votes were counted. Mr. Markham received 13 and Mr. Michaelcheck 26, which put him in the lead."

Mr. Michaelcheck, a former mayor, was defeated by 19 votes in the mayor's race two years ago. Mayor Fred Robertson did not seek re-election. In the aldermanic races three newcomers were elected. Bill Lewis, a former sheriff, led the ticket with 398 votes. Also elected were Charles Parnell, with 346 votes, and John F. Berry, with 389. Re-elected were Easton Lobo, 327; R.W. Stewart, 325, and Howard Vaughn, 347.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. In a recent magazine article I read something about a new type of community health plan being set up in conjunction with Harvard University. We could use something like this in our neighborhood, so I wonder if you could fill me in on the details? Are there similar plans elsewhere?

A. The Harvard Community Health Plan is an innovation, which will be implemented late this year. It is expected to provide valuable new data about the problem — common to many cities — of how medical care can become accessible to more people and better organized. It is the nation's first university-sponsored prepaid medical care program offering comprehensive health services to people in a metropolitan area.

Specifically, the Harvard Community Health Plan will operate independently of Harvard University, although it will enlist the resources of the Harvard Medical School, some of its teaching hospitals, major insurance companies and the Massachusetts Blue Cross to offer a total health care program. Subscribers to the plan will be provided with comprehensive care — ranging from diagnostic services to treatment in the doctor's office, full hospital and even post-hospital care. Emphasis will be on the prevention and early detection of disease.

It is hoped that the organized health care setting will permit more efficient use of medical manpower and equipment.

Q. My wife and I have two young children. We've had our hands so full looking after them that we just haven't given health insurance much thought. But lately we've been thinking maybe we should get some. What steps would we have to take before actually buying it? Incidentally, I am self-employed.

A. Before you buy a health insurance policy, four planning steps should be taken. First, review the costs and losses which would confront the family in case of sickness or accident. You would want to know the daily rates or fees charged by local hospitals, and have some information about doctor fees. Also figure the actual weekly amount of income that might be lost if you could not work for a time.

Secondly, you should appraise other benefits, if any, which would be available to the family if anything should happen, such as veterans benefits.

Then estimate how you and your family can budget to meet the remaining costs and losses. You will want to consider how much you would be willing to reduce regular living expenses to help cover the cost of illness or accident and also the savings that might be available for this purpose.

Fourth, consider the kind of protection you need and can afford. Naturally, few people can protect their family against every physical and financial ill that might befall them — sickness or accidents can strike at any time, and inflation, depression and war, too, are unpredictable. You should seek a proper balance in the use of the family's income, including as much health insurance protection as you need or can afford. Your insurance agent can give you professional guidance on each of these steps.

Q. I was operated on a couple of years ago for cancer and am very grateful that I apparently am cured. Now I'm wondering if this history will hinder me in getting a health insurance policy.

A. It's quite likely that you're either insurable now, or will be insurable. Today, over 100 insurance companies have policies that offer protection to persons with a variety of ailments including diabetes, heart disease, and even those who formerly had cancer.

You may, however, have to wait out a certain "recovery" time. Other factors in assessing your insurability would be the type of cancer, where it was located, and the length of time it has not reappeared. If you are interested in a policy now, check with your insurance man. He can obtain the information for you.

Q. My mother-in-law has been receiving Medicare payments regularly for the past year to help cover the expense of her illnesses — and so have many of her friends. My wife and I are paying the $4 monthly charge for her to participate in this program and we were wondering how much was actually paid out last year?

A. The Federal government, through various insurance carriers, paid out about $5.7 billion in Medicare benefits in 1968. This was an increase of 25.2 per cent over 1967.

Under the voluntary part of the program, or "Part B", about $1.5 billion was given to provide benefits for 80 per cent of medical-surgical costs once the insured person paid the first $50.00 deductible.

Under "Part A", the hospital portion of the Medicare program, about $4.2 billion in benefits were paid out in 1968, a 24.6 per cent climb over 1967.

E. W. James & Sons Supermarkets, now located in new buildings in Union City, South Fulton and Hickman, had their beginning in 1934 in Hickman.

This week all three stores are celebrating anniversaries. For the Hickman store, it is the 35th anniversary, while for Union City it is anniversary No. 15. For South Fulton, the newest store in the chain, it is No. 4.

It all began when E. W. James bought out a "cracker-box" size 30-by-40-foot store from his brother-in-law, Joe Rogers, in Hickman.

Since that time the James stores have grown and grown and last year, a new 25,000 square foot structure was completed in Union City at a cost of a half-million dollars. The Union City store is the largest supermarket between Memphis and St. Louis, and its grocery department covers 17,300 square feet as compared to 8,800 in its older store. There is parking space for 175 cars. Just completed is a $15,000 addition to the new store which is housing a bakery.

The South Fulton store and the new structure at Hickman were constructed in 1965 at a cost of about $150,000 each. These buildings measure 80 by 120.

E. W. James came up from the bottom rung to become one of the leading and most successful merchants of this area. When he purchased his brother-in-law's store in 1934 he had already worked for Mr. Rogers since 1919, having begun at $12 a week.

In this purchase he also bought Mr. Rogers' pecan and fur business, both of which at one time were the mainstays of the James operation although they have decreased in importance in the past several years.

The fur business is dropping off now because of ranch mink and because too much timber has been cut in this area. At one time we were the largest fur dealers in the state of Kentucky and did as much as $600,000 business a year. Now we do about $50,000 a year in the fur business.

The pecan business was also a booming thing not too many years ago. Mr. James bought 2,400,000 pounds of pecans from dealers in 1944 and sold them to processors but this business now averages about 300,000 pounds a year.

Many of the pecan trees have been cut down and most of the pecan business has gone with them.

E. W. James Sr. is president of the James corporation, Billy Joe James is general manager and vice-president while David Wayne James, who will be discharged from the Army in August, is corporation treasurer. He will head the general office upon his return.

Mrs. Bud Halterman, daughter of E. W. James, is corporation secretary and her husband is manager of the South Fulton store.
